Mt. Explorer shuttle needs help to survive

BY ALISON ALOISIO

The 14-year-old Mountain Explorer bus shuttle will likely need more financial support if it is going to survive after this winter season, according to its local liaison committee.

The free service transports people between Bethel and Sunday River Resort, with stops along the way. It has been touted as a way to reduce local traffic and pollution, as well as the potential danger from people driving OUI after a night out.

The shuttle has been supported through a combination of federal and state funding, together with local contributions from businesses and towns. This year's overall budget was $167,987, according to figures provided by Pat Roma, a member of the local volunteer liaison committee for the service. The operations are coordinated by Western Maine Transportation Services. The local contributions are needed in order to access the state and federal funds, officials have said.

But over the past five years the annual local business contributions have dropped by $10,000 - from about $48,500 to $38,500, according to Roma's figures. The number of businesses contributing has dropped from 60 to 22. The towns of Bethel and Newry have annually provided $5,000 each.

Overall the Mountain Explorer has a $40,000 shortfall in what had been budgeted for business contributions for the current season, Roma said.

There was a reduction in the number of days of service this season as a cost-saving measure, according to Craig Zurhorst of WMTS, as well as the elimination of one morning run on weekdays.

Roma said the service has routinely built $24,000 into its annual budget to go into a reserve fund for bus replacement and unforeseen expenses. He said money from that fund could be used toward covering the current shortfall.

But Roma said that without a "significant turn of events" it seems "very likely" the bus service will have to end because of the lack of funding.

"We're at a critical juncture. The next month or so is an important time to decide how to manage this," he said. "Our goal is to make clear to the general public and business owners that by way of modest increas-

Newry elections March 2; Town Meeting March 3

Newry next week will vote for the first time on separate days for its town officials and budget.

Town elections will be held Monday, March 2, at the Town Office.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. to choose a moderator, a selectman and two School Board members. Selectman Brooks Morton is seeking re-election in a contested race with former Selectman Jim Largess. Running uncontested for the School Board seats are incumbents Bonnie Largess and Whitney Gray.

The Town Meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 3, in the Bear River Grange Hall to act on the remaining 44 warrant articles. (A potluck supper will precede it at 5:30 p.m.)

If all money articles are approved, voters would OK a municipal budget of $841,714, which is up $11,739 over last year's budget of $829,975.

Town Administrator Loretta Powers said solid waste accounts for most of the hike. The town was over budget to Bethel, which operates the Tri-Town Transfer Station along with Newry and Hanover, "because recycling is not paying what it used to. And so we upped the sanitation budget, and we hope to go to single-sort solid waste collection this year with the Tri-Town Transfer Station upgrade," she said.

The regular budget for sanitation is proposed at $136,322, up about $16,000 over last year. For the upgrade, selectmen recommend raising and appropriating $50,000.

Voters will also consider a proposal to raise $300,000 total toward improvements on the Sunday River Road near the Letter S swimming hole. The warrant articles propose to raise $150,000 from taxes and take another $150,000 from the Capital Improvement Account. The project is estimated to cost $229,000. Selectmen have said any remaining money would go toward other improvements on the road.

Voters will also be asked if they are interested in securing a bond to pave and improve the Sunday River Road from the Monkey Brook intersection to the end of the pavement. The estimated cost of that road project is $1 million. Selectmen are not making a recommendation.

Other articles include two ordinances to regulate parking and road entrances, and raising and ap-

Bethel board suspends updated sewer billings

BY ALISON ALOISIO

Bethel selectmen Monday heard from several unhappy sewer customers, including some who said if the current billing arrangement isn't changed they may get lawyers involved.

Later in the meeting, in accordance with an intent they stated earlier this month, selectmen voted to suspend "additional accounts that were generated by the most recent change to the Sewer and Water Ordinance," from April 1 to no later than Dec. 31 of this year, in order to allow for a review process and the possibility of "implementation of a clearer definition of dwelling unit and any other changes that need to be addressed."

They cited a section of the sewer ordinance authorizing a waiver of its provisions under certain circumstances.

Background

Sewer bills go out quarterly, with a minimum charge of $121, with usage over 1,500 cubic feet of water having an added charge of $8.09/100 cubic feet, according to the town.

In 2012 selectmen recommended the town extend the billing to individual dwelling units in properties such as some older apartment buildings, which had not yet been billed in compliance with town ordinance and were therefore billed as a single property. They said that units constructed more recently have been billed all along according to the ordinance, and the updates were needed to be fair.

The changes were outlined at public hearings and approved at the 2012 Town Meeting, town officials said. They took effect last fall.

But then the town heard from apartment house owners and business renters who said their bills were increasing by multiple times. They said the town's definition of a dwelling unit, on which billing is based, is too vague.

Barry and Robin Nevel longtimers at Mt. Abram

BY SCOTT ANDREWS, SPECIAL TO THE BETHEL CITIZEN

If warm, welcoming smiles are the emotional coinage of the realm in ski country, Mount Abram is one of its richest treasure troves. At least that's been my experience as a regular Mount Abram skier for 20-plus years.

Longevity is another key asset. Mount Abram has had five owners over those decades, but a core group of employees kept the operation running as flawlessly as possible throughout that period.

Among the numerous friendly faces returning year after year, a husband-wife team stands out. Barry and Robin Nevel have been vital cogs in the Mount Abram operation for a combined total of 78 years, and both have extensive contact with the ski area's multiple generations of customers.

The Nevels are easy to notice. Over on the West Side beginners area, chairlift operator Barry Nevel is the guy who wears the cowboy hat. He's been loading people on Mount Abram's T-bars and chairlifts for 43 seasons.

You'll find wife Robin in the ticket office. She's notable

Greenwood wraps up TIF proposal work

BY AMY CHAPMAN

Members of the committee studying the benefits of creating a tax increment financing (TIF) district in Greenwood met Feb. 12 to review a list of priorities that had emerged from discussion at previous meetings.

In preparing a strategic development plan for the town, economic development consultant Mathew Eddy included projects that could be funded by tax revenue resulting from new development within the boundaries of a designated TIF district, such as improvements to the Howe Hill Road, renovations to the downtown district, and the creation of a marketing program.

The list also includes projects for which Eddy recommends the town seek funding through grant sources such as the Maine Community Foundation, Rural Development, and Brownfield programs, as well as projects which would be funded privately, including the building of a permanent base lodge and improvements to existing buildings, parking lots, and operating systems at Mt. Abram Ski

WHAT DOES NEWRY WANT?

To the Editor:

Newry wants Brooks Morton for Selectman!

For the past three years Brooks has been serving the residents of Newry, the town that he loves. Over the past few months we have gotten to know Brooks very well and we think you would be hard pressed to find a more honest and dedicated person to serve as selectman in our town. The bottom line is Brooks' only interest is to serve this town and its residents. Newry wants what any town wants to be treated fairly and have selectman looking out for the best interest of the residents in the town, and we think Brooks is the man for the job.

For these reasons we ask you to please join us in supporting Brooks Morton for another term as selectman to the town of Newry. Be sure to get out and vote on March 2, 2015.

SEEKING AWARD NOMINATIONS

To the Editor:

For the last 45 years, the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce has held an awards dinner and celebration to recognize community and business excellence. We are seeking nominations from you, the members of our communities and businesses, for our various awards. Nominations must be submitted by Friday, April 3rd and can either be sent to the chamber at P.O. Box 1247, Bethel, Maine 04217, delivered to our office, or e-mailed to info@bethelmaine.com. We also ask that nominators be present at the event on Friday, May 15 to accompany the recipient.

We have many categories! Business of the Year, Henry H. Hastings Award for Citizenship, Lifetime Achievement Award, Bethel Area Non-Profit Leadership Award, Forest Products Industry Award, Public Service Award (typically goes to someone working in municipal governments or committees), Rising Star Entrepreneur Award, Rocky Freda Memorial Award. We also have four Employee of the Year Awards: Ski Industry, Service & Retail, Education & Hospitality and these should be nominated by the employers. A selection committee will be meeting and we will be announcing the award recipients by mid-late April.

At this wonderful celebration, we also present two Citizenship Awards to high school seniors who are chosen by the staff of Telstar High School and we provide the forum to present the SkiESta Scholarships. There is an application process for the SkiESta awards that will be explained in a separate letter to the editor.

The Awards Dinner & Celebration is scheduled for Friday, May 15 to be held at the Grand Summit Hotel at Sunday River Resort. Details related to the dinner, and making reservations will be released in the next weeks.

Sponsorship opportunities are still available for this event, and information on the benefits of this can be obtained by contacting the chamber. We are also seeking donations for our Silent Auction - which has been a terrific addition to the event. Please call us!

Many thanks for taking the time to nominate those who are outstanding in our communities and work places.

Robin Zinchuk, Executive Director
Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

SKIESTA SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED

It is time to apply for a SkiESta Scholarship! Last year we awarded $5000 of scholarship money. For 2015 we will be awarding a minimum of two $1,000 scholarships to area residents who fit into one of the following categories 1) high school senior that has been accepted and is committed to attending college or pursuing a formal higher education degree; 2) an area resident who is interested in attending The Eddy School in Newry and is identified by it as a need-based student; and 3) any adult who is enrolled in continuing education or change of career training (e.g. training to become a plumber, electrician, or courses to further expertise in a trade).

To apply, please write a simple letter describing the way the funds will be used and discussing why you believe you are the best candidate for the scholarship money. Be sure to include name, mailing address, telephone, and email on your essay. In the case of high school student applicants, please forward your GPA/transcript with your essay. Priority will be given to residents of Newry although anyone in the Sunday River area may apply.

Letters should be sent to The Owners, Ski Esta, 343 E. Hillendale Road, Kennett Square, PA 19348.

The deadline for receiving the application is April 1. Scholarship winners will be announced at the annual Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Awards Dinner, May 15, 2015. The owners of SkiEsta donate at least one Awards Dinner ticket to each recipient so that he/she may attend the dinner.

Thank you to the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce for helping us administer the scholarship fund.

THOUGHTS OF A NEWRY RESIDENT

To the Editor:

I will be supporting Brooks Morton for selectman of Newry on March 2. I encourage the folks in the Sunday River Valley to do the same.

As selectman, Brooks has made your roads a priority by bringing the road maintenance plans into action from the work that Dave Bonney has developed based on the foundational work of Jim Sysko's 2001 report. He has moved the concerns of the citizens in the long neglected sections of the outer Sunday River Road to a discussion and a vote at our March 3 Town Meeting.

As a citizen, I am concerned about the many issues that seem to be in limbo until after this upcoming contested election. It will make a difference in the direction of our town and where our tax dollars will be spent.

Here is the list of the major topics that remain unresolved.

First, The school withdrawal committee has a good balance of citizens. By law when a selectman is replaced he has to step down from that committee. What will the dynamics be like if Jim Largess is elected and put on the committee? Husband and wife!

Second, solid waste. Bethel, Newry and Hanover are in negotiations to upgrade the transfer station. Brooks has been involved in these negotiations for some time now. Jim Largess works for the largest producer of solid waste in town. Who do you think will serve the best interest of all the taxpayers?

Third, the Mountain Explorer. It is no secret that the future of the funding of the Mountain Explorer is in question. Jim Largess works for the company that is the main destination that this free ride serves. I ask you again who will watch out for the interests of all the taxpayers of Newry with an open mind?

Fourth, the Bingham Forest. One needs to only visit the Mahoosuc Pathways website to find out the great plans in the works for this land, which was the former water source of Bethel. The promotional video tells the vision for this parcel of land located in Newry. It has been stated in a recent Planning Board meeting these collaborative organizations intend to seek tax exempt status from the Town of Newry. They have also stated that they do not believe they need to bring their plans before the Newry Planning Board. Jim Largess is the chairman of the Town of Bethel's Bingham Forest Authority. Now I again ask you, who will serve the interests of all of the taxpayers of Newry better?

Fifth, Planning Board appointments. Three of our Planning Board members are retiring April 1. Brooks Morton worked hard to address the conflict of interest that existed when Jim Largess was a selectman. For many years Sunday River's engineer was chair of the Newry Planning Board. It took a lot of guts and courage to confront this situation and Brooks did just that. I know Brooks will do the right thing when appointments need to be made after Town Meeting.

We have a unique opportunity in Newry by having two folks that have served as selectman before asking for our votes. We also have a history of both individuals, what they stand for and who they serve. As we all know being a public official it is very difficult not to favor the corporation you work for, the non-profits you belong to and/or the special interest groups you are involved with. That is another reason I am supporting Brooks Morton for selectman of Newry.

PROPERTY TAX ABATEMENTS

To the Editor:

If you believe your property taxes are wrong, you can fill out an abatement form (obtained from your town office) and ask to have them lowered. You must do this within six months of the tax commitment date. For many towns, the deadline comes in early spring. If the error(s) have been ongoing, you can ask for the last three years to be lowered.

The assessors in your town (who are also the selectmen in many small towns) have a legal duty to value your property "justly" in comparison to similar properties. Maine Law also requires assessors to review the tax records every four years. Many towns do not. After a while, property records can become confused, disorderly, inaccurate; essentially, indecipherable. Assessors are obligated by law to correct records when inconsistencies are discovered.

How can you find out if your tax assessment is wrong? You go to the town office and ask for your property file and anyone else's you want to see, by using the tax maps and/or "commitment list" to identify the "Map" and "Lot" numbers. You need to try to determine how assessors established values for your land and building in comparison to your neighbors' lands and buildings. Errors can be made regarding simple things like square footage, acreage, factoring multiplication, etc. In addition, some assessors may fail to account for things that affect the value of your property such as location, topography, access, road conditions, services, utilities, foundation, central heat, water supply system, waste disposal system, water heater, appliances, etc. According to Maine Law, they must account for all of those things in establishing your property's "just value."

You must do your homework in order to get an abatement. You cannot simply claim that your taxes are too high or unfair. You must list comparable properties that are assessed for less. You must find errors in the description of your property, and factors unique to your property they have failed to note. You must argue the assessors are manifestly wrong. One thing you may notice in the assessors' files are inconsistencies. It is possible you may find things in town files that seem unfair. It seems that back in the early 1990s, Andover assessors decided to apply decreases in valuation for houses that were "run down," applying a hefty discount for "functional obsolescence." The problem is, these values were never added back once the houses were "fixed up." Many in town continue to enjoy these "discounts" that are not given anymore. "Functional obsolescence" discounts are not given to (newer) cabins with no power, no running water, no heating system, no well, no septic system, no foundation, no road.

After you do your research, document it, and send in your detailed abatement appeal. In a few weeks you may receive a letter from assessors denying your request. They may say that bringing all property valuations up to date would take them too much time and that a revaluation is needed.

Their denial is a minor bump in the road. Do not give up. You may now appeal to the Oxford County Board of Assessment Review. Another short form to fill out and a date to appear before the board in South Paris. If you have your facts in order and a good argument, you should win. If the county rules in your favor, you will receive a refund check from your town, including interest accrued from the time you paid your bill. If the county does not rule in your favor, you have the option of appealing to Superior Court.

Speaking of interest, you may have noticed that if you are late paying your taxes, you must pay them 7% interest. But towns can and do pay much less interest to you on tax refunds due to overpayment. State law mandates a maximum of 4% difference between the two numbers. Why is any difference allowed? Why should they charge us 7% when we're late paying taxes, but when they must refund overpaid taxes, they only pay 3%? At the Andover town meeting this year, they will try to get you to vote the tax refund interest from 1% to 3%, to be in compliance with state law (they were not). Do not. To be fair, this number should be 7%, the very same interest they charge you.

Even if you are awarded an abatement by the county, it may not be over. Pay attention, because the selectmen may not make the adjustments the county directed. They may say they didn't like the county's decision because it didn't give enough "rationale." You may have to go through this again, as county and town resources are wasted.

A side note on property taxes: in the past some towns have required removing an acre from tree growth on which to build, when the building footprint area is all that needs to be removed according to state law. Over the years you may needlessly pay thousands in extra taxes on a whole acre, not to mention the additional penalty. Revise your tree growth plan and reduce your "building lot" to the smallest fractional acre possible. If they deny your tree growth plan, you can appeal to the state (that makes the rules).

Assessors inherit inconsistent, incomplete records, perhaps true. However, abatement applications must be carefully considered. As towns decide to use undocumented valuation methods (while ignoring old valuations), "new" taxpayers will bear the burden with higher "new" valuations.

Inconsistent property files and non-standardized, non-retroactive assessing practices are not the best ways of doing business. But if that's the way some towns choose to operate, they had better be prepared to routinely grant valid abatement requests.

From the Bethel Town Manager

BY CHRISTINE M. LANDES

As always, it is my pleasure to provide this bi-weekly column for the citizens of Bethel. I recently attended a Western Maine Manager's meeting in Wilton. Managers from Franklin, Oxford and Androscoggin counties gather once a quarter to network and address upcoming or current issues they are facing. Geoff Hermon from the Maine Municipal Association was the most recent guest speaker. He presented notable items of interest from the Governor's proposed budget that will have an impact on each and every taxpayer of Maine. The largest item will be the adjustments to the Revenue Sharing Program. State law defines that the communities of Maine should be receiving 5 percent of all sales and income tax collected, which for Bethel totals approximately $192,000. Currently, the Town of Bethel receives about $85,000 for Revenue Sharing. The proposed state budget for FY 2016 would drop that amount by almost $9,000 and then eliminate the total in FY 2017. Any loss in revenue on the local level generates cuts in departments or programs that are in place. It is my understanding this proposal was met with immense opposition at the legislative hearing. There was over 40 individuals who testified how this concept could fatally impact their communities.

Other impacts of the Governor's proposed budget include a tax shift in the telecommunications tax and the elimination of the Homestead Property Tax program for those under 65 years of age and then doubling the exemption for those 65 and older. Another proposal generating a lot of controversy is the application of property tax to 50 percent of the value of privately owned tax-exempt institutions over $500,000. I am positive the Taxation Committee has their work cut out for them in the next few weeks. It will be interesting to see how this evolves.

Bid packages for the tree cutting project at the Bethel Airport are now available. Bids will be accepted until March 16 and then accepted or rejected at the Board of Selectmen's meeting on March 23. We will be conducting a pre-bid informational meeting on March 5 at 10 a.m. with a site walk for interested parties. If anyone is interested in receiving a bid package please feel free to contact me or the office.

There has been a slight delay for the installation of the light by the grocery store. CMP was unable to stock the correct light. It is my understanding the light is now available and should be installed very soon. I have also been asked to look into changing lights at the intersection of Parkway and Route 26. The area does not seem to be illuminated enough to allow safe turning of traffic and pedestrian crossing. I met with the CMP field representative on site and she presented several options. I expect that current light will be changed out in the near future with one that will guarantee a much brighter area for the benefit of everyone.

I want to remind everyone of the upcoming budget meetings. They will be held at the Town Office on March 10 and 12 at 7 p.m. These meetings are open to the public and I encourage everyone to attend. Preparing a budget is very time consuming, but rewarding. Please join us and learn how town funds are appropriated in the most fiscally conservative manner.

If there is anything I, or the employees of the town, can do for you please do not hesitate to contact us. We are here for you.

Newry to decide on ordinances

BY TERRY KARKOS, SUN MEDIA WIRE

On Tuesday Newry Town Meeting voters will consider new ordinances on road entrances and parking, and changes to fire suppression and Planning Board ordinances.

The Road Entrance Ordinance establishes standards for temporary and permanent roads and driveways entering onto town rights of way. The Parking Ordinance regulates parking on certain public ways.

The road entrance law limits the number of entrances onto town rights of way to one per lot. With lots that have frontage on two or more town rights of way, the entrance and exit serving that lot must be on the lesser traveled way as deemed by the town. Additional entrances can be allowed pending town approval "upon proof that no alternative method is viable and no unsafe or unhealthy situation will be created."

The proposal also allows the code enforcement officer to determine entrance standards and to enforce the law with selectmen approval.

The Parking Ordinance bans parking where signs prohibit it, and leaving a vehicle unattended within a 15-foot radius of any area marked by the Newry Fire Department. It exempts emergency vehicles; utilities maintenance, construction, repair or installation vehicles; and any state or municipal agency or utility company.

Violators will have their vehicle towed and impounded and must pay fees and municipal penalties. The ordinance can be enforced by any officer with police powers.

The proposal was prompted by complaints about parking around the areas of hiking trails.

The Planning Board law changes include reducing membership from seven to five, and with two alternates instead of one. It also details how to handle vacancies, reduces the quorum from five to three members, delegates responsibility to selectmen to prepare and maintain a Comprehensive Plan, and states how the ordinance can be amended.

The fire suppression law removes unnecessary language, according to town officials. New language defines dry hydrants and addresses fire hydrants, limiting the pad area to no greater than a 2 percent slope, requiring that hydrants be primed, and painted with red fluorescent paint.

The ordinances will be voted on at the annual Town Meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 3, at Bear River Grange hall.

The ordinance defines a dwelling unit as "Any part of a structure which, through sale or lease, is intended for human habitation, including single-family and multifamily housing, condominiums, apartments and time-share units."

Monday's discussion

Monday's meeting was focused on hearing from customers concerned about the billing. About a dozen people attended.

Apartment house owners Ross Swan and Mark Bennett were particularly vocal.

Swan said under the current system, lodging places with multiple units should have those units charged separately. "I don't think having an innkeeper's license should keep an inn from having to pay sewer fees, the way that we're having to pay sewer fees," he said.

He said he was currently paying at a rate that amounts to $.38 per cubic foot for what he is using, which he said is about the same quantity of water as a single-family dwelling uses.

"I'm not going to get put out here and subsidize the rest of the system and have to pay $.38 just because my usage is so low, and the bigger users essentially go through at $.08 a cubic foot, no big deal, unchanged, have no effect," he said.

He suggested the town look at other towns' rate and billing systems. "The town really needs to step up its efforts here on this subject. It's not going to get any easier if they don't, I guess. I don't see myself standing here again. If they continue to bill like they have been billing, it's going to be lawyers in here. That's not a threat."

Swan, not a Bethel resident, offered to serve on any committee looking at the issue. Howe said he could certainly attend any deliberations on the issue.

Swan said that basing billing on usage would be the simplest solution. "Cubic footage is the equalizer," he said.

Bennett said his bill had gone up over $1,000, four times what it had been, but he wasn't using any more water than he had before.

With the decision to suspend the billing and reconsider the ordinance, he said, he should also get a refund of the money he has already paid.

"I want my money back, and one way or the other - and this is not a threat - if I have to hire a lawyer, or we have to as a group, get a group action against the town sewer. It's already been talked about," he said.

Town Manager Christine Landes noted the ordinance had been approved by a Town Meeting vote, but board Chair Stan Howe said it was based on incorrect information.

"Why should I pay for somebody's blunder?" replied Bennett.

Landes said the money could potentially be refunded as an abatement, if the ordinance is altered.

In other business Monday, Landes said a new, 400-watt street light, similar to those on interstate highways, is scheduled to be installed at the intersection of Parkway and Route 26.

propriating $10,000 for the Mountain Explorer shuttle service.

Selectmen recommend approving the ordinances, but didn't make a recommendation on the shuttle.

The request for the Cemetery Maintenance Account is up from last year's $7,000 to $14,700, to cover improvements such as new fencing and tree cutting, according to town officials.

A $2,000 increase in the Wages Account includes 3 percent raises for town employees.

Last week's meeting

At last week's selectboard meeting, Planning Board Chairman Pat Roma asked the board to contact the town attorney for advice on how to handle subdivisions that have been approved in the past, but weren't finished in the time specified in the approval.

Other business involved finding a new bank for town business and considering whether to provide some kennels to temporarily house dogs that escape from Sunday River Resort condominiums.

Powers said Newry's animal control officer must be notified of any dogs running at large, and has to drive over from Rumford to handle them, sometimes transporting them to a shelter in Fryeburg. Selectmen asked Powers to contact the resort and ask them to address the problem.

for vibrant attire -- especially colorful jewelry and accessories. She is Mount Abram's ticketing supervisor, and has been dealing with customers and their money for 35 years.

Recently I sat down for a chat with the pair.

"I started here back in 1972 on a part-time basis," Barry, 61, told me. "I was still in high school but I worked weekends and holidays for the Cross brothers."

(Mount Abram was started by three brothers who were in the logging business. Don, Norton and Stuart Cross opened for business in December of 1960.)

Barry's first job was running the T-bar in Duane's Retreat, a beginner's area on the eastern extremity. Today he runs the double chairlift on the West Side beginners area. For about a dozen years, Barry was Mount Abram's lift operations supervisor, but resigned in favor of returning to a position where he directly helps skiers.

Robin, 57, came to Mount

Abram some years later. "I started here in the fall of 1980, working downstairs in the lodge in the retail shop," she said. "I was a cashier, selling clothes and mittens and that stuff."

Both jobs are seasonal. One of the keys to the Nevels' longevity at the mountain is that both Barry and Robin have complementary seasonal positions as co-managers of a private fishing camp near Moosehead Lake.

You won't find them on the slopes today, but Barry was a regular for many years. "I've skied pretty much for my whole life," he said. "I'm not an expert skier by any means -- just recreational, just for fun. But I've kind of given it up recently; I want to save myself for old age."

Robin gave up skiing shortly after a childhood mishap and never returned to the sport.

For most customers, the ticket office is their first stop. Robin supervises three ticket sellers during peak periods. Over the years, she has dealt with the increasing complexity and automation of the ticketing function.

It's a job for friendly, detail-oriented people. A bewildering welter of pricing options and third-party promotional programs -- such as Groupon, the Ski Maine Association and Irving Oil Company -- need to be sorted through quickly, while customers at the counter need their options explained in a patient, helpful manner.

Robin notes that increasing numbers of skiers purchase discounted tickets through Liftopia, a national online service. But they still need to check in at the ticket office and exchange their online vouchers for physical tickets.

None of it fazes Robin. "I've been doing this for so long that I know this stuff inside-out, backward and upside-down," she said. "But sometimes one of the girls will get confused and have to come to me. Then it's 'Robin, can you handle this?'"

Barry's domain is the West Side, characterized by wide, gentle, sun-drenched slopes. Beginner lessons are taught there, and most of the seasonal children's programs use the area. It's a refuge for newbies. That makes the West Side the perfect location for outgoing, helpful people like Barry.

"You get a chance to deal with a lot of folks who don't know a lot about skiing," he said. "So you have an opportunity to help them learn how to ride a chairlift, which can be quite challenging. So I like to spend a little time with those folks, to help get them on the right track."

He has also become Mount Abram landmark or milestone amongst generations. "I'm loading people on the lift now who are at the same height and same age as their parent were when I first started loading them," said Barry. "Folks are delighted to think that I'm still here loading their children like I did with them when they first got started."

es in their contributions as well as with, perhaps, a few more businesses re-joining the support efforts, we could continue this service."

The future will be significantly impacted by what happens at next week's Newry Town Meeting, Roma said. Voters will be asked to up the town's annual contribution from $5,000 to $10,000. Selectmen agreed to put the figure on the warrant, but are making no recommendation on it. At a recent selectmen's meeting two people said they had observed few bus riders on weekdays.

Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, said she plans to be at the Town Meeting. Also next week, the chamber is expected to host a meeting of interested parties to discuss options, and also look at the broader transportation needs of the community, she said.

She said they might look for other additional funding sources, outside the area, to help take some pressure off the local ones.

Asked if options might include further scaling back service, such as to nights, weekends, and vacation weeks, Zinchuk said, "Everything is on the table. We'll create the service we can offer for next season."

She said businesses should consider their situation if the service were to be discontinued. Some might be forced to offer their own transportation, she said.

Zinchuk said some of the local businesses that have stopped contributing to the service did so because they are not on the route. But she said it's important to keep the bus because other ski destination communities that Bethel competes with offer a free transit service, and visitors make their decision on where to go based in part on the ease of getting around.

"Having the Explorer helps elevate the Bethel area as a world class destination," she said.

She said the businesses not on the bus route still benefit from an overall increase in visitors.

Business comments

Sunday River Resort is the largest contributor to the bus service. Asked for comment on the bus and its current dilemma, spokesperson Sarah Devlin said, "The Mountain Explorer is a wonderful service for our community. The free shuttle provides our guests easy access to Bethel and Newry establishments. We're the largest local supporter for the service at $17,000 every year, and would increase that contribution as long as there is support within the rest of the community."

Other businesses that contribute to the bus service can be seen on the Mountain Explorer website at mountainexplorer.org.

The Citizen contacted several area businesses (some who contribute to the service and some who do not) to ask whether they find the service valuable.

Jamie Patenaude is the general manager of the Matterhorn Ski Bar in Newry, a stop on the bus route. "I find the Mountain Explorer and the service it provides very beneficial to our business at the Matterhorn Ski Bar," he said. "It provides safe and reliable transportation that our customers depend on. Many of our staff also use the Mt. Explorer to get to and from work."

The Norseman Inn in Bethel is another stop. "We find having the bus very beneficial," said owner Dale Cheney. "We have situations that part of the family may want to go up to the mountain early, and then the rest of them could join them later by taking the bus. Also, when people want to go out and have a few drinks they don't have to worry about driving."

But Donna Gillis of Pat's Pizza in Bethel said she has seen little business as a result of the bus. "The Mountain Explorer used to stop at Mallard Mart [next door] a couple years ago," she said. "It hasn't stopped there at all this year. We only saw one family come into Pat's from riding the Mountain Explorer in all the years the bus has been running. Sorry it isn't a more positive experience for Pat's Pizza."

Asked about the Mallard Mart stop, Zurhorst said there is a 'Parkway & Route 2' stop, but it is a 'flag stop' only.

Bus by the numbers

Zurhorst provided ridership numbers for the Mountain Explorer for the past four years. In 2011 ridership was 21,752; in 2012 18,411; in 2013 23,725; and in 2014, 16,818.

Zurhorst said the numbers can be greatly affected by the weather. Last year, he said, the season started out cold and with little snow, putting a damper on the numbers of people skiing early and therefore using the bus. He also said that a lack of snow in the markets from which people come to ski impacts the number of visitors.

He described this year's ridership so far as "decent." Zurhorst said that ridership is typically high on weekends.

Describing the overall schedule, he said, "This year the Mountain Explorer begins its regular weekday route every hour on the half hour from the Bethel Inn, and every hour on the hour from South Ridge. On Saturdays, Sundays and holiday week days, service is expanded to running every half hour on the hour and on the half hour, from both ends of the route, except between 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., when service is the same as weekdays."

Zurhorst said that over the years the service has been adjusted at various times to "make the most of our resources" and operate as efficiently as possible, while balancing the need to have regular runs in order to best serve riders.

Bethel

I know there's been a lot of complaining about the cold temperatures, the shoveling, the icy roads. But we are Mainers; we like the snow; and as long as we are physically able we need to get out and play in it. For the past few years, snowshoes have been my comfort zone for winter sports. The last time I was on skis was 50 years ago. Last week my two great nieces, Katy and Hannah Matczak from Bellingham, Mass., visited their grandparents, Laurie (my sister) and Bob Hickley in Shelburne, N.H. They convinced me to go cross country skiing with them at Carter's Cross Country Skiing. While Laurie coached six-year-old Hannah, 11-year-old Katie gave me pointers on navigating the trails. The trails are beautiful; the views of the river and mountains are awesome. I discovered we're never too old to try something new (or recapture something we did in our childhood.)

The third and final book discussion on "Civil War Stories" by Ambrose Bierce will take place on Wednesday, March 4, at 7 p.m. at the Bethel Library. Doug Rawlings, representing the Maine Historical Society and the Maine Humanities Council will lead the discussion. Books are available at the library. But if you haven't read the book or attended the other discussions, you are welcome to attend. Discussion at the other sessions has covered not only Bierce's writings, but other stories of other wars, the impact of the Civil War on Maine, and the effect of war on both soldiers and civilians. There's a lot to discuss. The book discussion is part of the "Local & Legendary: Maine in the Civil War" project, a joint project of Gould Academy, the Bethel Historical Society, and the Bethel Library. There will be a series of Lenten Lunches on Wednesdays during Lent. The lunches, which are a Bethel tradition, will begin on March 4. The lunches are at noon at the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel. Area churches take turns preparing the lunches and a local Pastor gives a brief message following the lunch. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The World Day of Prayer is Friday, March 6. It is a tradition in Bethel for local churches to join together for a service. This year the service will be at 2 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church on Church Street. The service is sponsored by the Episcopal House Church and the Bethel United Methodist Church. Light refreshments will follow the service.

Area.

One high priority is addressing Mt. Abram's need for three-phase power in order to expand its snow-making capacity. Eddy suggested exploring funding options through Efficiency Maine, as well as the federal New Market Tax Credit program, which allows individual and corporate investors to receive a tax credit when investing in businesses located in low-income communities.

Other priorities include working to promote Greenwood as a four-season destination through improvements to trail systems and summer recreation opportunities, establishing a downtown arts district centered around the historic Town Hall as a performance and exhibit space, creating a transportation loop linking Mt. Abram and Locke's Mills to Bethel via trails and public transportation, and helping to determine a future for the former Saunders Brothers mill property.

Committee members also emphasized the historical connection between L.L. Bean and the town, which is the birthplace of the company's founder. They discussed working to encourage a company presence in Greenwood, perhaps in the form of a product testing facility or sales outlet at Mt. Abram. A public hearing will be scheduled prior to Greenwood's Town Meeting in May, when voters will be asked to approve the establishment of a TIF district for the purpose of funding identified infrastructure projects.

The creation of a TIF district would mean that taxes on increased property values within the district would be shielded from Greenwood's state valuation and therefore would not reduce the town's state education and revenue sharing subsidies, or raise the amount of its county taxes.

The Way I See It

BY SHARON BOUCHARD

From the TWISI archives:
My favorite part of the day is early morning sitting at my kitchen table with a cup of fresh brewed coffee and the morning paper.

I love the quiet of the morning and I immerse myself in reading the national and local news. I'm a bit of a reading junkie and as well as the news I read the editorials, letters to the editor and even the obituaries.

My guilty pleasure part of the newspaper is the comic section. I have been reading the comics since I was a little girl and it feels like I'm having coffee with old friends when I read Mark Trail, Blondie, Nancy and Peanuts.

I don't find the comics as ha, ha funny, but they are sometimes quite amusing and often ironic and on occasion nostalgic. That was the case with Nancy recently when Aunt Fritz asked Nancy why she and Sluggo were late coming home from school.

The forever kids responded that they had stayed late to help the teacher.

"Oh, you cleaned the erasers?" Aunt Fritz asked.

That question brought a puzzled look from Nancy and Sluggo. So, Aunt Fritz said, "You cleaned the white board and sorted the dry erase pens, huh?" and the two youngsters nodded yes.

The mention of cleaning erasers took me right back to elementary school and choking on chalk dust from banging the erasers together. I could almost smell the chalk as I thought about it. For those of you who don't know what I'm talking about, let me explain. Back in the day when chalkboards, then called blackboards because they were in fact black, were heavily written on with chalk and the erasers became coated in chalk dust from all the erasing and had to be cleaned at the end of the day. The cleaning method was to take them outside and bang them together.

As kids we begged for eraser duty and felt privileged when chosen by the teacher. Then the lucky kid or kids got to go outside no matter what the weather and bang the erasers, choke on the chalk dust and get absolutely covered in it. Oh, those were happy days.

It wasn't until I became a teenager and wanted no part of chalk dust in my teased hair or on my angora sweaters that I realized what a con the teachers had going.

Not only could they get the kids to do their dirty work, the kids fought for the opportunity and thought they were hot stuff when they got picked for the job.

Yet, it seems kind of sad to think that eraser duty may be a thing of the past. I haven't been in a classroom in many years so I don't really know what goes on, but when I questioned my grandkids about eraser duty it got me looks like I have two heads.

I asked my son if he remembers eraser duty and his eyes lit right up. "I used to love doing that. We'd bang them against the school and leave chalk marks in different patterns all over the brick. Sometimes, we banged them against each other."

It does make me wonder how many other things the kids are missing out on in the way of duties that made you feel like king or queen of the roost. Do the teachers still pick a student to take the attendance slips to the office? Going to the office on important business rather than being called there for punishment was a big status deal. I experienced both.

How about hall monitors? I was a seriously good hall monitor until I got caught skipping class and lost that little perk.

I know things have changed one heck of a lot. Some things are for the better I'm sure, but some things I have to question. No doubt it's a good thing that a kid can't be made to stand in front of the class with gum stuck on their nose because they got caught chewing it in their Freshman English class. That was not a good experience. But, the way I see it to not be able to bang some erasers together in a cloud of chalk dust is missing out on what was one of the good experiences of being in school.

quent questions for the Select Board members last about an hour. There seemed to be no particular interest by those present at the meeting to proceed with withdrawal after some of the pros and cons were brought to light. Educational alternatives were unclear and the options would have to be explored.

Stratton emphasized that the withdrawal process itself would be extensive and potentially costly as it would likely involve educational consultants, attorneys and research. It was determined that further information about the Town's options may be obtained in a subsequent meeting with RSU10 School Director Linda Beaudoin and local legislators. This meeting will likely take place following the April Select Board meeting. (Full coverage of last week's meeting may be found in the Feb. 19 issue of the Bethel Citizen.) To learn more, please stay tuned for date and time of subsequent meetings regarding this matter. It was agreed that no action would take place at this juncture as there seemed to be a lack of interest to pursue withdrawal.

Snowmobile enthusiasts are finally enjoying the abundance of fluffy white on Hanover, Rumford and Andover trails. Local club volunteers work diligently to mark and groom trails for your safety and riding pleasure. Show your support by joining one or more area clubs. Your membership helps to keep the clubs afloat and contributes to the maintenance and fueling of grooming equipment. In addition, donations are appreciated for these non-profit organizations. For more information follow the two local clubs on Facebook under "Andover Trails" or "Rumford Polar Bears".

Blustery winds and drifting snow left some Howard Pond residents snowbound for a day or two. One resident commented that she didn't mind being housebound and enjoyed the solitude, peace, and beauty of the surrounding winter white - or should I say green? High winds had covered the drifts with pine needles, cones and branches requiring raking the snow before starting up the snow blower!

Regardless of the frigid temps and biting wind, the recently heard chickadees' call reassures us that spring will soon be here. Once you've shoveled and scraped and raked and blown, take a moment to appreciate the beauty of the season. Look and listen for the wonders of winter in Maine. You will be amazed!

Roma, asked the Board for advice in dealing with subdivisions that have reached their expiration date according to the town's Unified Development Review Ordinance. He feels that the UDRO does not address the situation well and would like some clarification, possibly from the town's lawyer. The Town Office is looking into the possibility of switching banks. There seems to be quite a difference in the rates and fees charged by different banks. One option that sounded nice has the ability to pay taxes online with a credit card. That would be a great help, especially for folks from out of town/country.

The public hearing that was held after the Select-board meeting was again poorly attended. The hearing was to have discussion on some planning board ordinance changes, as well as two new ordinances: a road entrance ordinance and a parking ordinance. The town was told that they need to have a parking ordinance in place so if they choose to put up "No Parking" signs in the town, they would be enforceable.

Do not forget: Monday, March 2 the polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. to vote for a Selectman and School Board members. Then on March 3 is the annual Town Meeting. As always, there is a potluck dinner at the Grange Hall at 5:30 p.m. Don't miss out on the good food and some time for some good community fellowship.

The Town Office wants to remind people that a lot of trailer registrations come due in February, so check your trailer.

The School Withdrawal committee will meet Thursday, Feb. 26 (tonight) at 5 p.m. Come find out for yourself what's going on. That way, you can draw your own conclusion.

One last thing - I am wondering if anybody else has a robin at their feeder. I've been feeding one lone robin. The poor thing looks so out of place. He sure does gobble up the seeds. There is probably not enough protein in his diet. Maybe I should buy him some worms!

Have a great week!

Locke's Mills

By Betsey Foster

A special Town Meeting to decide whether or not to purchase a new pump engine for the Greenwood Fire Department will be held March 3, 6 p.m., at the Town Office. Town Manager Kim Sparks said that she hopes a request will be made at the meeting for the voting to be by secret ballot. The question would authorize the purchase and limit the cost of the new engine to $35,000.

We own a second engine, and that is in the Greenwood City station. Sparks said if that one was used as the main fire truck, it would leave those houses in the City without a truck.

The status of the fire department is being discussed by the Budget Committee members. One option considered in the past has been to build a new station beside the highway department facility on the Greenwood Road. That would eliminate the current situation of having two fire stations each with its own engine. We have one station in Locke's Mills as well as one in Greenwood City.

Another option that has been considered in the past is merging the Greenwood and Woodstock departments.

The state is reducing revenue sharing, and that will increase the local share of the budget (in other words, your property taxes would increase). If the state gets its way, we are going to need to be innovative in controlling/reducing our budget to keep our already-high property taxes under control.

The next Greenwood Budget Committee meeting will be held March 5, 6 p.m., at the Town Office.

As to the status of the recycling center and the conversion to single-stream recycling, Sparks said the only thing that is holding it up now is for the building to be moved so it is in line with where the electrical connection is. She said Dave Berry, who built the structure, will be doing that.

The personnel issue at the Greenwood Fire Department has been resolved. Firefighter Fabian Coriveau has been placed on probation for six months, according to Sparks.

New birds are showing up in the area. Folks have reported flocks of Bohemian waxwings eating the frozen fruit on crab apple trees. I saw a robin in Bethel last weekend.

It was above freezing last Sunday. The first time in almost two months. If you were not able to get outside and enjoy the warm temperatures, take heart. There will probably be another day above freezing before July 4.

This week's sign of change to come: We now have over 11 hours of daylight.

Feb. 19, 11:30 a.m.

Good morning to y'all, 26 degrees here this morning, snow showers with a heavy overcast.

Condolences are going out to the families of Ardine A. Pulsifer, Emily Pike and Fred Estes. Thoughts and prayers to each family member on loss of their loved ones.

Get well wishes are going out to the many who are not feeling well these past few weeks.

So much snow and no place to put it and they are predicting more, this is certainly gonna be one February that we will not soon forget.

Celebrating birthdays in March are Kathy Bartlett, Andrea Lane, Christine Hanscom, Pat Plante, Rachel Severance, Jim Miclon, Harold Wilbur, Mark Thurlow, Jessie Hart, Warren Libby, Betty Foster, Nancy Wardwell, Elaine Gammon, Melissa Hilligoss, Eileen Mowett, Gail Bennett, Amander Corriveau, Lalney Cross, Chris Lamb, Ginny Brown, Rachel Henry, Natasha Hodson, Meagan Hodson, Carol Ann Fogg, Janice Walker, Joyce Hathaway and Ruby Coolidge. Wishing each of you a great day on your special day.

The towns are to be complimented on doing a great job with their roads during these back to back storms and the drivers are getting over extended on their sleep and rest, our prayers to each one that takes care of our roads in such conditions.

Doctor appointments for us this week and hopefully we have no storms that day. I so hate traveling on the snow and ice covered roads.

We got our roof shoveled off last week and that makes me feel better. So many roofs have collapsed due to all that snow and ice.

We have postponed our practices several times due to the storms and road conditions. We are hoping for better weather for Saturday so we can get a practice in, as Paula has to travel up from Lewiston and there are times when the roads can be bad.

That's all from the valley this week. Take care and stay well.

Upton

Carol and Charlie provided a great lunch Sunday for all who came to the Ladies Aid Building. The menu included several kinds of sandwiches, a variety of soups, chili and lobster bisque. There was also a nice selection of desserts.

I dedicated most of my time last week to recreation. Mostly snowmobile riding. I rode with a variety of people, including my daughter, friends from Hampton, N.H. and some local friends. All the trails we rode were in great shape. My thanks to all you dedicated hard working groomers out there.

The Upton Planning Board will meet Friday, Feb. 27 at the Town Office at 7 p.m.

That was a nice day of warmth, but we sure had to pay for it on Monday. It didn't start out too bad, but as the day wore on it got colder and colder. Ms Piggy really didn't want to go out, again. She was finally convinced that that was the way to go.

Bethel Rescue launches 'Sand for Seniors'

The members of Bethel Ambulance Service have introduced a new community outreach program called "Sand for Seniors." In recognition of the challenges facing seniors citizens during the winter months, rescue members will begin distributing buckets of sand when they are called to senior's homes.

Bethel Seniors Group president Fran Head applauded the members of Bethel Rescue for identifying this need and distributing the one gallon buckets at the February meeting. "I couldn't be more proud to live in a community where our EMTs and Paramedics take time out of busy rescue shifts in order to speak with senior citizens about health issues, take our blood pressure, and now provide us with sand for our doorways. I can't thank them enough for being available 24/7 for emergencies, and also for all of the work they do to prevent injuries before they even occur."

Advanced EMT Clarke Reiner proposed the idea at the rescue meeting in January, and was pleased to see the program come together within a few short weeks. The buckets were generously donated by Western Maine Supply.

Selectman Stanley Howe is also supportive of the initiative, saying "Bethel Rescue has once more shown how caring they are by this project which should greatly assist the town's seniors in avoiding falls on ice and snow."

Bethel EMTs and Paramedics have actively participated in monthly blood pressure clinics, offered a scholarship for graduating seniors, safety tours for schools, and distributed glow sticks at the Crescent Park Halloween parade. In addition to 911 responses, Chief David Hanscom recently learned that Bethel Rescue has become a Gold HeartSafe Community.

The HeartSafe Community Award is a statewide recognition for EMS agencies which increase the number of defibrillators, as well as introduce outreach programming. Bethel Ambulance Service was named a "gold level" recipient of the award, in large part due to coordination by Assistant Deputy Chief Berta Broomhall and longtime member Haley Tripp.

The HeartSafe Community designation is based on what the American Heart Association calls the chain of survival. The four important links of the chain include: early access to emergency care, early CPR, early defibrillation, and early advanced care. To receive a HeartSafe honor, services are awarded points called heartbeats in cardiac problem prevention areas to determine their level of qualification.

HeartSafe Communities is a program that helps Maine people improve the chances for survival and recovery after sudden cardiac arrest. The program is a partnership between the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention, Cardiovascular Health Program and the Maine Emergency Medical Services Office. It recognizes local efforts to provide strong cardiovascular-related emergency care for residents and visitors.

The Sand for Seniors program is just one of the ways in which the ambulance service is increasing the presence in the Bethel area. According to Deputy Chief Crystal Aylward, "we have extended sporting event coverage for local teams at no charge, and have continued to provide stand-by medical support for major events in town throughout the year. Our priority will continue to be giving back to the community which has shown us so much support."

Chief Hanscom continued "Bethel Rescue members have demonstrated a remarkable commitment to the responsibility of providing emergency medical services, and the sand for seniors program is the latest installment of outreach programming offered to Bethel area residents."

Programs like this are funded through the Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue Service (BEARS), which is supported through donations and grants. To donate to the BEARS, checks can be mailed to Post Office Box 1660, Bethel, Maine 04217.

(heaven!), we are finally alone in our nice quiet house. It is even quieter than usual as the TVs don't work. The antenna blew down last week and the new one doesn't seem to work. Dave has been too busy snow blowing to pay attention to it. Channel 8 is all we have and we are not too happy. Guess for now it is public radio for me.

This is the last weekend in February and not much appears to be happening. It is only two weeks before the time changes - March 8-Not sure how I feel about that, but it means I will be able to stay out a little later. Still won't be able to stay and play with the big guys, but it will be better. Now if it would just warm up a little... This cold wind blowing is a little old.

Condolences go out to the Pike Family. Wayne Pike died suddenly last week of a heart attack. It is sad. Our hearts go out to Paula and the boys.

Mon. March 2 Socrates' Café will be held at the Waterford Library from 6:30-8:30. The moderator will be Bart Hague. The topic is: Does Climate Change Change Everything. Light refreshments will be served. FMI for snow dates and other info. 583-6957.

March 3 is Sadie's Birthday. She will be 18. Watch out world.

Wed. March 4, 4 p.m. there will be a lecture on Evolution of a Garden at McLaughlin Garden, 108 Main St., South Paris. It will be presented by Rex Biesel and Craig Cote.

That is all for this week. Stay warm and safe.

SIMARD QUALIFIES FOR NATIONALS

SIMARD QUALIFIES FOR NATIONALS—Maddie Simard, one of Gould's day students from Newry, has qualified as one of the 15 high school athletes headed to the USSA U-18 National Championships this week at Copper Mountain, Colo. The USSA U-18 National Championships take place from Feb. 27 until March 6, and is an exhibit of the best of the best in Alpine ski racing for students ages 16 to 18. Students who qualify for this event will compete for a National title in slalom, giant slalom, downhill, and super G races. Maddie is the daughter of Kurt and Lauren Simard; Kurt Simard is a Gould Competition Program coach. According to Coach Parker Gray, "Qualifying to this event is tough—the Eastern Region takes 20 males and 15 females. Half the spots are chosen by point ranking and the other half are chosen by performance. Maddie qualified based on her Super-G and Downhill results." Gould Academy

Winter Kids March 7/8 at Mt. Abram

The 2015 WinterKids Downhill 24 is less than 2 weeks away! The 24-hour team ski race and fundraiser supports WinterKids in helping children develop healthy, lifelong habits through fun, outdoor winter activity. Now, WinterKids is pleased to announce that the D24 Kickoff and Pre-Registration Party will be taking place on Thursday, Feb. 26 from 4 to 7 p.m. at Portland Pie Company in Portland. This year's event is slated to exceed that amount and promises to be the biggest all-night ski party of the year. In addition to 24 hours of straight skiing (technically 23 hours of skiing with the clock springing forward), there will be great food, amazing prizes, and entertainment to motivate skiers and riders for the duration of the event. The WinterKids Downhill 24 welcomes all levels of skiers and snowboarders who want to ski, ride and have a blast all to support Maine kids. Registration is open to the first 400 individuals and private or corporate teams of up to 12 participants. Each individual team member may register for $25 and then has until 5 p.m. on March 7 to raise another $175. The entry fee for corporate teams is $1,500 for a team of 8, with a $100 fee for each additional team member up to 12. Each individual and team will receive a unique fundraising page through Crowdwise, and there will be prizes awarded for those who raise the most money for WinterKids. The WinterKids Downhill 24 is presented by Kittery Trading Post and supported by The Thomas Agency, Portland Pie Company, Sysco Northern New England, and WEX. To register and to learn about additional sponsorship opportunities, visit D24.org. WinterKids is an independent 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. Our mission is to help children develop healthy, lifelong habits through fun, outdoor winter activity. This year, as we celebrate our 15th anniversary, WinterKids will reach 20,000 Maine children through our family programs, school programs, and community events. WinterKids' Major Community Sponsor is Hanaford. WinterKids' Supporting Sponsors are TD Bank and L.L. Bean. Learn more at WinterKids.org.

Ian Blair presentation rescheduled for March 4

The Western Mountains Senior College's Down Home Maine program with Ian Blair has been rescheduled for Wednesday, March 4, 4:30 to 6 p.m. at Gould Academy's McLaughlin Auditorium. Blair recently attended the TED Global conference in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and will discuss being part of this high-energy gathering and meeting presenters and attendees from all over the world. This presentation – part of WMSC's traditional Down Home Maine program and open to the public, free of charge – precedes the Senior College's TED Talks class by a week, but is completely separate. For more background, visit www.ted.com.

Supermarket Strategies Topic of Senior College Program March 5

Cathi DiCocoa, local professional chef, celebrates National Nutritional Month with a program on "Supermarket Strategies" to be held on Thursday, March 5, from 4:30 to 6 p.m. at the Bethel Congregational Church, 32 Church Street, Bethel, sponsored by To Your Health of Western Mountains Senior College (WMSC).

The theme of National Nutrition Month 2015 is "Bite into a Healthy Lifestyle," and DiCocoa will help the audience make informed food choices by taking them on a "trip to the supermarket." She posed the question: "How do you go in a grocery store and make it work for you?" She said grocery stores are designed in a certain way with the healthiest food on the outside aisles. She will explain how to negotiate the aisles; eat healthy and affordably; choose organic or non-organic; compare store and name brands; and check supermarket labeling. She added, "Never go to the store hungry and always bring a list." DiCocoa also plans to give a food demonstration with samples and recipes available. Among her handouts, she will include the newest regulations on food labeling and what foods should always be eaten organic.

To Your Health is sponsored by WMSC with the collaboration of the Bethel Family Health Center and MSAD 44/Continuing Education. The public is invited and admission is free. The next program, "Joyful Living" with Ellen Crocker, Jewel Clark and Sharon Swanson will be held on April 9 at the Bethel Congregational Church. For more information, contact Rosabelle Tift at 824-2053.

Upcoming "Maine in the Civil War" Events

In March, two special events will take place in connection with the "Local & Legendary: Maine in the Civil War" project, a year-long collaboration between Gould Academy, the Bethel Historical Society and the Bethel Library Association. On Wednesday, March 4, at 7 p.m., the final book discussion of "Civil War Stories" by Ambrose Bierce will take place upstairs at the Bethel Library. Author, Doug Rawlings of Chesterville will once again be the facilitator. If you couldn't make any of the previous meetings, then don't miss the last! On Saturday, March 28, the Bethel Historical Society will host a combination Local & Legendary/Women's History Month program entitled "Women Soldiers of the Civil War." The event will begin at 2 p.m. at the Dr. Moses Mason House and will feature a film showing followed by a discussion. The free program is open to the public and refreshments will be served.

Gould Academy, the Bethel Historical Society and the Bethel Library Association are bringing local Civil War history to life thanks to a $2,000 grant awarded by the Maine Historical Society (MHS) and Maine Humanities Council (MHC).

News from the Bethel Historical Society

Part of a joint MHS and MHC project funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities, the program aims to bring Maine libraries and educational and historical organizations together to explore local Civil War history and engage their communities. Bethel is one of five communities in Maine to receive the grant in the second and final round of project awards.

Society Loans Rare Book

As part of its continuing effort to share its collections with other institutions and the general public, the Bethel Historical Society has loaned the original record book of the White Mountain Club of Portland (1873-1884) - North America's second mountaineering organization - to the Museum of the White Mountains at Plymouth State University for their upcoming exhibition, "Trail Clubs: Connecting People with the Mountains." Curated by Steve Smith, Mike Dickerman, and Ben Amsden, the display opens at Plymouth, N.H., on March 31 and runs through March 6, 2016. Designed to enhance visitors' knowledge and appreciation of the important role trail clubs have played in creating an iconic hiking trail system in the White Mountain region from 1873 to today, the exhibition will include a full-scale, hand-crafted log shelter donated by John Nininger, owner of the Wooden House Co., Ltd., Newbury, Vt. Following the exhibition, the shelter will be dismantled and rebuilt by the Cohos Trail Association along their long-distance trail in Northern New Hampshire, continuing the age-old tradition of trail clubs bringing volunteers together to benefit the hiking community.

WMCC to offer Maine border towns in-state tuition

We are all about being good neighbors at White Mountains Community College and that is why we have decided to offer our neighboring towns in Maine and Vermont in-state tuition, beginning this summer! If you are a prospective student who lives within 50 miles of our Berlin, Littleton, or Conway locations, you will be eligible for in-state tuition. All current students who reside within the 50 mile radius of one of our three locations will also become eligible this summer for in-state tuition.

Previously, students who attended White Mountains Community College from one of our bordering towns paid a reduced tuition; however, this new initiative carries an even greater savings. Before our 50 mile radius reduced tuition plan, students would pay an average of $19,200 for their degree. Now, students who will be paying the in-state tuition will be able to receive their degree for an average of $12,800. This is a remarkable savings and comes at a time when most colleges and universities are raising tuition costs.

nity College has been continuing with its mission of assisting all types of learners achieve their goals, and has always been considerate of the financial implication of the cost of college. The 50 mile radius initiative is not the first time that White Mountains Community College has reduced its tuition. This past summer, the college reduced tuition by five percent, dropping the price per credit to $200, making WMCC the lowest tuition in New Hampshire.

With the demand of a college degree increasing each year for obtainable employment, White Mountains Community College is committed to our students and our neighbors so that students near and far can achieve their academic goals and pursue their career dreams. Please contact the college with questions regarding programs and tuition, or to see if your town is eligible for neighboring town in-state tuition. We look forward to seeing you come to the mountains and begin your journey!

White Mountains Community College offers courses in Berlin, Littleton, Conway and online. With over 50 degree and certificate programs and a recent five percent reduction in tuition, White Mountains Community College is affordable and accessible for all individuals, whether you are looking to obtain a college degree, certificate or change your career. The college has a number of articulation agreements so transferring into a four year college for those interested in a bachelor's degree is quick and seamless. For more information, please call White Mountains Community College, 603-752-1113 ext. 3000 or e-mail wmcc@ccsnh.edu.

Obituaries

ROSE LAMONTAGNE

Rose R. Lamontagne, 78, of Lac-Mégantic, Quebec, Canada, and formerly of Bethel, passed away Feb. 10, 2015 after a brief illness with cancer, surrounded by her children at the 5th Season Hospice House in Lac-Mégantic, Canada.

Rose was born in St. Denis de Bromton, Canada on March 1, 1936, the daughter of Donat and Laurette Rene. She married Simeon (Sam) Lamontagne from Lac-Mégantic, Canada on July 31, 1954. They later moved to Bethel in 1958 and raised their family. She worked at Hanover Dowel Mill and later at Newton Tebbits in West Bethel for several years until 1980 when they moved back to Lac-Mégantic, Canada so she could care for her mother-in-law who was sick.

Rose is survived by her companion of nine years and her four children, daughters Ginette Gates of Pittsfield and husband Thomas, Pierrette Bernatchez or Auburn and husband Richard, Sylvie Murphy of Bryant Pond and husband William (Billy) and son Mark Lamontagne of Lac-Mégantic, Canada.

and his companion France Nadeau; daughter in law Alicia Lamontagne of Colebrook, N.H.; three grandsons, Jeremie Marquis of N. Stratford, N.H., David C. Parker of Manchester, N.H. and Bryson Lamontagne of Colebrook, N.H.; two granddaughters, Alexis Lamontagne of Colebrook, N.H. and Noemie Lamontagne of Lac-Mégantic, Canada; three great-grandchildren, some cousins, nieces and nephews, all of Canada.

She was predeceased by her parents, her sister, four brothers, her in-laws; husband Simeon (Sam) Lamontagne and a son Richard.

Visitation and showing were held on Feb. 18, 2015 at the Central Granite Funeral Home followed by a Catholic Mass at the church in Lac-Mégantic, Canada.

Friends are invited to share their condolences and memories online or by mail to the family.

WILLIAM HERLIHY

Bill's struggles with numerous health problems for many years ended peacefully at his home in the presence of his beloved wife and daughter the evening of Feb. 16.

Oct. 25, he celebrated his 80th birthday. Kingston, N.Y. was home through his sophomore year in high school when his parents, John and Mary Dinsmore Herlihy moved their business to Fairfield, Conn., where Bill was a 1952 graduate from Roger Ludlow H.S. He attended the University of Michigan then served in the submarine service before finishing his degree in marketing from the University of Bridgeport in '59. His career included the Vick's Co., insurance, investment banking (testifying before a senate sub-committee re employee stock buyout plan was a highlight), credit and collections and real estate sales for Newry's Sunday River and Highland Green in Topsham.

Summers at Camp Etowah in Fryeburg cemented his love of Maine (his mother was from Dover Foxcroft) which became his permanent home in 1980. Sister-in-law Mary introduced a (40+ year) friendship with Bill W. which led him to St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Darien, Conn., a milestone in his deeply spiritual walk. His passion for skiing moved him to setting up media station competitions to support the early days of Maine Handicapped Skiing Ski-a-thon. Sailing was his favorite summer pastime. Other joys came from reading WWII books, NY Giants and Michigan Wolverines football, things Irish, big chocolate chip cookies, feeding the birds, walking along the Sunday River and especially the joy in being with Susan whom he married Sept. 28, 1990.

He had a knack for story telling - those stories often included his brothers who predeceased him: Jack (a torpedo bomber in WW II) and Bob (for whom Herlihy Peak in the Sierra is named). He is survived by Susan; his daughter Kerry and her husband Alan Herrick of Sebago, Maine and his son Brian and wife Kate of Chino, Calif.; Susan's daughter Julie of Orono and son John of Yarmouth; nine grandchildren, Cassandra Krainis (Josh), Keith Herrick, Kerry and Clare Herlihy were a particular source of light and love; as well Susan's Tara, Kate, Sarah, Sydney and Taylor; plus Boston, Eilya, Isaiah and William - the 4 great-grands; also, nephews John, Tom, Patrick and nieces Patti and Julie and their families whose education and careers were such a source of pride.

There will be a Celebration of Life at West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel at 11:30 a.m. March 14. Those wishing to remember Bill are asked to make a donation to Maine Adaptive Sports & Rec. or AHHHC -

Androscoggin Home Health & Hospice Center.

Arrangements by: Cliff Gray Cremation & Funeral Service, 60 Andrews Road, Bryant Pond, Maine. Tel. 461-6050.

ARTirondack chair artists sought

Artists from years past pose with the chairs they designed and painted. From left: Jewel Clark, Scott Lane, Troy Jordan and Sarah Renee Lane.

'Are you creative, love to paint furniture and thinks arts education is a great cause? Then the Mahoosuc Arts Council needs you!

It is the time of year again when the Mahoosuc Arts Council goes into full swing preparing for the Annual Summer ARTirondack Auction. The council is seeking new and previous artists to volunteer to paint an Adirondack chair to raise much-needed funding for arts educational programs in the 2015-16 school year.

The artists work will be featured in a variety of ways through promotion of the annual auction which will take place at Mollycoddett Days this year on July 18. The ARTirondack Auction is a major fundraising project for the council. All proceeds go toward supporting outstanding visual and performing arts programming for the adult and student populations of the greater Bethel area. At the same time, the talents of local artisans are celebrated, who create beautiful, functional works of art which often become cherished as family heirlooms.

The chairs are crafted and primed local artist Reggie Brown. In late winter, the council begins seeking volunteer artists. Community businesses and individuals are found to sponsor the chairs which are displayed around the Bethel in the sponsors' locations for viewing in June and July. Color brochures along with posters are published with photographs of each chair and the name of the artists with a map of the chair sponsor locations.

What ARTirondack ARTists do:

Obtain one, primed Adirondack Chair from the Council, which can be delivered to your home; Paint an appealing design for a general audience; Pick up your free paint at Brooks Brothers. (Must be acrylic enamel paint); Finish the chair in non-yellowing Ultra Violet protectant polyurethane; Call the Council to have your chair picked up by June 1; Come to the ARTirondack Auction and experience the philanthropy and fun!

Go to: www.mahoosucarts.org/ARTirondack.html for photos of past chairs for ideas and inspiration.

The council is proud to say that some of ARTirondack ARTists have found new opportunities or have received commissions directly as a result of the auction and advertising efforts. In addition to publicizing the auction on our web site, it will also be featured in print, on posters, brochures, and through sponsors.

We have a limited number of chairs for volunteer artists. Artists can obtain chairs on a first come, first served basis, so please call soon if you are interested in volunteering for ARTirondack. FMI: 207-824-3575 or info@mahoosucarts.org.
